

50 Years of Badgers:

Freshman Enrollment 1962 and 2012

The University of Wisconsin was founded in 1848 and accepted its first class in February of 1849. Located in the beautiful Madison, Wisconsin, the University has been one of the most prestigious public schools in the United States. While the majority of students are born in Wisconsin, the school has representatives from nearly every state. Known for its liberal leanings, a high ranking party school, and snowy winters, most students come from the midwest and northeast, and are accustomed to the lifestyle.

The large majority of freshman badgers in both 1962 and 2012 graduate from Wisconsin high schools, but a rising number are coming in from Illinois and Minnesota.
