

The Graying of America

The Post-WWII baby boom has left a huge elderly population in America as life expectancy has grown overtime. Although an increasing life expectancy rate may seem positive, there are significant consequences to the graying of America. As this elderly population is projected to double by 2030, social security & other benefits may run out as soon as 2041.

Percent of Population 65 Years & Older

Percent Change of Population 65 Years & Over 2000-2010

