Tour the Terrific Twenty A Roadtrip Route to Twenty Must-See National Parks Average Annual Visitation from 2010-2020 As one of the nation's most visited parks, Glacier National Park is known for its mountainous terrain. 10,000,000+ alpine views, and refreshing lakes. The ancient The dramatic and dangerous Olympic glaciers here are some of the last left in the country landscapes, including red rock 3,000,000 Glacier canyons and spires, have earned this area the 500,000 "Badlands" title. Mt. Rainier Crater Lake Yellowstone Badlands 12 hr 45 min Grand Teton Redwood Cuyahoga Valley Indiana Dunes Yosemite Shenandoah Arches 2 hr 30 min Sequoia hr 30 min Mammoth Cave Zion Great Smoky Mountains Grand Canyon Hot Springs Great Smoky Mountains is the Grand Canyon National Park is home most visited US National Park. to immense red rock canyons, Carlsbad Caverns with over 12 million visitors revealing millions of years of history. throughout 2019. The lush, The Colorado River flows through mountainous landscape boasts the canyon valley, where sheep, diverse wildlife, as well as deer, and mountain lions live. serene rivers and waterfalls. Hot Springs National Park is the only national park that protects a unique combination of lithology, geologic structure, and water sources that produce some of the most high quality thermal springs in the United States. Bison by Sara Saedi from the Noun Project, Tree by Alice Design from the Noun Project, forest by Pablo Sophie Michalski, 5/5/2021 Data from Natural Earth and the National Parks Service Rozenberg from the Noun Project, Bat by Alex Muravev from the Noun Project, Deer by Bernd

Lakenbrink from the Noun Project, Bear by Kevin from the Noun Project

Albers Equal Area Conic