

Travel Adventures: A Summer in Portugal, Spain and Andorra

In the summer of 2024 I will be traveling to Portugal, Spain, and Andorra with one of my best friends as a post-graduation gift to ourselves. We will first land in Porto, Portugal starting off with food and wine tours to then history and cultural activities in Lisbon. We travel down the country to the Algarve Region to relax on the beaches in the south. We then make our way over to Spain spending equal time between Madrid and Barcelona, with a day trip to Andorra, a tiny country in the Pyrenees Mountains between Spain and France. Neither of us have been to any of these places and are really looking forward to our trip! I used this map to plan out our route and the top activities that we plan on doing in each of the cities that we will be visiting. I hope that this is helpful to others that are looking at a similar trip.

Cartographer: Quinn Boerger
 Projection: ETRS 1989 UTM Zone 29N
 Central Meridian: 27 W
 False Northing: 0.0
 Data Sources: <https://www.naturalearthdata.com/>, Googleflights.com, Googlemaps.com, flaticon.com, & personal research regarding activities